The Design for the Henry L. Wyntt Monument-Talk of a New Demoeratic Dally-The Farmers' Alli-

RALEIGH, N. C., June 29.-(Special.)-State-Labor-Commissioner Hamrick says he has visited one third of the cotton mills in the State, and finds these have over 240,000 spindles. He says he is sure there are over 1,000,000 spindles in the State. He is now making up a list of the furniture factories; has reports from seventy-five, and is confident there are twenty-five more.

The design of the new monument, or rather the addition to the monument to Henry L. Wyatt, of Richmond, was shown to-day by Robert H. Bradley. It is in the shape of a flat marble slab, which is fastened to a low cylinder. On the top of the slab are the words, "Henry L. Wyatt, Bethel, June 19, 1851." On the edges are the words, "Company A, First North Carolina Regiment. The first Confederate killed in battle." Mr. Bradley says it is not claimed that Wyatt was the first Confederate killed during the war; that Captain Marr, at Fairfax, in a cav-alry dash at night, was the first, but that Wyatt was the first killed in battle.

HOW THE CROPS ARE DOING.

Weekly Report of the Department of Agriculture.

WASHINGTON, June 29 .- The Department of Agriculture's weekly crop buletin, issued to-day, says in part:

While somewhat too cool for the best results over the more northerly districts. with excessive heat in the Southern States, the week has, upon the whole, been favorable for the growth and cultivation of crops and the harvesting of grain. Local storms have caused injury to crops in portions of New Jersey, Alabama. Kentucky, and Missouri, but the damage has been comparatively light. Portions of the Ohio Valley, Gulf States, Western Kansas, and Colorado are needing rain.

Western Kansas, and Colorado are needing rain.

Cotton has made rapid growth in Oklahoma and Texas, and a general improvement is reported elsewhere. In the central and western portions of the cotton belt, however, the reports generally indicate that the plant is small and backward. the central and western portions of the cotton belt.

Corn has made further improvement during the week in the principal corn States; has made rapid growth in Illijois, Missouri. Nebraska, Kansas, and Oklahoma. In the more northerly sections the crop has generally improved, but continues backward. In the Southern States the general outlook is less favorable than previously reported, the crop having been damaged by hot winds in Texas and by drought in Arkansas and the East Guir States. Rains have retarded cultivation in portions of Iowa, where the crop has made fair growth, but the condition estimates are variable. rtes are variable.
The winter-wheat harvest has continued under generally favorable conditions.

The winter-wheat harvest has continued under geterally favorable conditions. East of the Mississippi harvesting is now in progress as far north as the southern portions of Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio, and the crop is maturing rapidly in the more northerly sections. Some damage has been done by excessive rains to wheat in shock in Missouri. Harvesting in California has been somewhat retarded by cool weather and showers over the northern part of the State. Rains in Oregon and Washington have been beneficial.

The following is a cemplete list of these senators: Stephen M. White, California; J. R. Hawley, Connecticut; George Gray, Delaware; Samuel Pasco, Florida; David Turple, Indiana; A. P. Gorman, Maryland; Henry Cabot Lodge, Massachusetts; C. K. Davis, Minnesota; J. Z. George, Mississippi; F. M. Cockrell, Missouri; W. V. Allen, Nebnaska; W. M. Stewart, Nevada; James Smith, Jr., New Jersey; Ed. Murphy, Jr., New York; W. N. Roach, North Dakota; Mark Hanna, Ohio; M. S. Quay, Pennsylvania; N. W. Aldrich, Rhode Island; William B. Bate, Tennessee; R. Q. Mills, Texas; T. J. Cannon, Utah; Redifield Proctor, Vermont; John W. Daniel, Virginia; C. J. Faulkner, West Virginia, and J. L. Mitchell, Wisconsin.

As most of these senatorial vacancies will be supplied by legislatures to be elected within the next few months, it becomes a matter of very general interest to know how these bodies will be constituted. The present administration has not redeemed its pledges of prosperity made at the polls last November, and consequently there is widespread discontent throughout the country, Indications point to Democratic gains in almost every State, and as the season advances these indications will doubtless become even more pronounced.
